City Commissioner Frank R. Pou who, with a party, spent a couple of days in Baldwin county, is at home again, and yesterday was at the city hall, looking after the accumulated matters for his consideration in his department. Although the commissioner had visions of bringing down a bear or deer, nothing of the sort was done, and but few birds were shot. Mr. Pou will make another trip shortly.

Leop. Heinberg, the popular assistant city clerk, obtained permission to leave yesterday and spent practically the entire day at the fair at Molino, extending his stay over until today. The clerk's office is just now getting a breathing spell from the rush of work which it accomplished during the remaining days of the past month.

BRITIAN THANKS UNITED STATES

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, Nov. 7.—The British embassy today made public a letter from Ambassador Spring-Rice to Secretary Bryan expressing appreciation of the British government for the services of American Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople in assisting in the departure of Sir L. Mallet, the British ambassador to Turkey. Sir L. Mallet was prevented from leaving until Mr. Morgenthau intervened.

BIG LOT COTTON AMONG ITEMS ON E. O. SALT MARSH

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE STEAMSHIP TAKES FIRST LARGE CONSIGNMENT OF NEW CROP STAPLE FOR ENGLISH PORTS.

Nearly four thousand bales of cotton, valued at $156,748, were among the several items of cargo which were loaded aboard the British steamship E. O. Saltmarsh, and which will be ready to go to sea at an early hour this morning. The Saltmarsh cleared yesterday afternoon and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon moved into the stream, preparatory to getting away, possibly at an early hour today.

Cargo aboard the steamer, which goes to two ports in England, consists of tobacco, cotton, barbed wire on spools, oak staves, pig iron, lumber, timber and rosin, all valued at $279,891. This is the most valuable single cargo shipped in some months from here. The greater part of the cargo goes to Liverpool, but the pig iron, consisting of 2,000 tons, and valued at $32,000, is billed for the port of Swansea. In pounds, the cargo is brought down to the following figures: 454,149 pounds of tobacco, 2,098,944 pounds of cotton, 1,643,066 pounds barbed wire, 318,700 pounds oak staves, 4,480,000 pounds pig iron, and 249,185 pounds of rosin. There were 347,874 superficial feet of sawn timber, 156,802 superficial feet of deals, and 99,285 superficial feet of pitch pine lumber.

ONLY REMNANTS OF STAND PIPE

Nothing was left standing of the great water tower, which has done service at Pensacola for many years, when the force left the site yesterday. In fact for several days the remnants of the big tower have been but a pile of junk, near the site, and those who have been accustomed to seeing the great tower when in the neighborhood will miss it very much if they go to that part of the city hereafter.

Not only the standpipe is moved, but the cottage, which city disposed of some time since, is now being moved by the contractor. In fact by the end of this week it is expected that the site will be ready for occupancy by the state laboratory, to be erected there.

It was asserted yesterday that the only thing which has held up the start in the laboratory building was the presence of the standpipe and cottage on the site. Now since both of them will have been moved to another place or demolished, as the case may be, it was understood that the new building will be started at once.

CRUISER YORCK OF GERMAN NAVY STRUCK A MINE

BELIEVED THAT BIG GERMAN NAVAL SHIP WAS NOT VICTIM OF HOSTILE ATTACK, BUT SINKING WAS DUE TO CONTACT MINE.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Berlin, Nov. 6.—(Via wireless)—Only the scantiest authentic details of the sinking of the German cruiser Yorck are available here. The admiral has received from Wilhelmshafen little beyond the announcement of the time and place of the accident and the number of men saved.

A fuller report, it is expected, will probably be available soon. It is definitely announced, however, that the sinking was due to a German mine and not to hostile attack. The ship, which was under way presumably swung outside of the channel through a mine field and touched one of the powerful German mines which made short work of the big cruiser. The conduct of the crew, in the moment of disaster, is described as exemplary and there is much regret over the destruction of the cruiser—the heaviest individual loss as yet sustained by the German navy.

RAID OF GERMAN SQUADRON.

The loss of the Yorck is counterbalanced, in the German opinion, by the news of the daring raid of a German squadron into British home waters to indulge in what is described here as "a bit of rat hunting on its own account."

The report from the commander of the squadron states that the Germans suffered no loss or damage to men or material and returned safely to its base.

The retirement of the German squadron, it is stated here, may not improperly be described in the much abused term as a "strategic retirement," designed to draw its pursuers into difficulties. The names of the German ships engaged will not be published and there is the same reticence regarding the identity of the Hermes.

In well-informed quarters the British report of the sinking of a German submarine by the destroyer Badger is strongly questioned. So far as known no German submarines have been destroyed beyond those whose loss was reported earlier.

The admiral authorizes a positive denial of the assumption that the mines off the northwestern coast of Ireland were laid by commercial steamers under a neutral flag. The mines, it is stated, were laid in a manner fully conformable to the usages of war. The exploits of the German submarines and the appearance of a German squadron at Yarmouth, it is pointed out, are the clearest indications that Germany does not need to resort to any illegal methods to conduct activities in British waters.

SEA BRISTLES WITH MINES.

The British announcement warning neutral ships against using the northern entrances to the North sea is regarded here as merely a step in the campaign to control neutral shipping which might possibly benefit German industry and is not based on actual danger. The potentialities of mine laying in those regions, it is said, are practically null because of the depth of the water. It is also stated that the route recommended by the British via the channel on the contrary, is infested with mines while the southern half of the North sea bristles with floating mines torn loose from their anchorage.

M. M. MORRISON EXPIRES AT A RIPE OLD AGE

BROTHER OF A. D. AND MISS KATE MORRISON, OF PENSACOLA, PASSED AWAY AFTER QUITE A LENGTHY ILLNESS.

Malcolm M. Morrison, aged about 65 years, died Friday night and will be interred at an hour to be determined, some time today, at what is known as the old Buchee Valley cemetery, in Walton county, in which county the deceased had spent many years of his life. During recent years, however, he suffered a long illness, and close friends were not surprised yesterday morning when wires reached the city, announcing the death of the old gentleman who is so widely known in this city and section.

A. D. Morrison of this city is his brother, and Miss Kate Morrison, also of Pensacola, is his sister. He leaves quite a number of other relatives throughout West Florida.

Word was not received here in time yesterday by his brother to allow his Pensacola relatives to catch an east-bound train, but on the first available train, both his sister and brother left for Walton county, to be present today at the funeral, which, it is expected, will take place this afternoon.
